Learning of Jesus is a website dedicated to sharing Jesus Christ with others through various media, Bible based discussions, study notes, and personal experiences. We want others to see Jesus as He is shown in the Bible and through everyday experiences. The collection of studies, notes and thoughts contained on this site are written and presented by people who are themselves learning of Jesus. Jesus was, and is, a Friend to all, and we want this site to be a place for anyone who is feeling stressed, discouraged, guilty, lonely, wanting direction, or struggling in their everyday life. We find Jesus is the answer, and we want to share in what ways He is that help.  The website contents are offered freely to all, with no attending obligation whatsoever. The only request we make is that the contents of this site, if copied and/or distributed, be done so in its original entirety, and is properly acknowledged as being from the Learning of Jesus website.  We welcome you to browse through this site. The contributions are the results of each individual's study and experience. We know that if one has found encouragement in learning of Jesus, another will no doubt find it also. If anyone finds inaccuracies, or has a comment or interesting and relative contribution, please feel free to contact the webmaster.
